

Close Reading of Complex Texts™

Author Biography

Maria C. Grant, EdD, is a professor of Secondary Education at California State University, Fullerton. She has authored numerous publications centered on science literacy, formative assessment, and reading, including articles in Educational Leadership and Journal of Adolescent and Adult Literacy. Her newest publications are A Close Look at Close Reading: Teaching Students to Analyze Complex Texts, Grades K-5 and Grades 6-12 and Turning the Page on Complex Texts: Differentiated Scaffolds for Close Reading Instruction.

Dr. Grant teaches courses in the credential program at CSUF and conducts professional development with teachers at various schools across the country. She currently leads the intern program at CSUF.

Grant earned a doctorate of education at the University of San Diego/San Diego State University (joint doctoral program) and a master's degree in curriculum and instruction at San Diego State University. She earned her bachelor's degree in geological sciences at the University of California, Santa Barbara.